Native Garden Kit

Transform your yard with low-water Southern California native plants!

TreePeople has partnered with nurseries throughout Southern California to offer a self-contained kit designed to make native landscape transformation accessible, affordable, and hassle-free.

This program will help residents reduce water usage, beautify the urban environment, and support native plant nurseries across Southern California.

Program Details

This summer, we are offering five different themed kits for $150 per kit. Visit TreePeople's site to see all of the options.

Each kit only $70 with instant rebate
